

HOW TO ACCESS THAT JOURNAL

By Debbie Hunn

Most of the journals available from the library are included in the WorldCat Journal List. It provides links to online journals and information about print journals. Use this resource if you already have a citation to a specific article and you want to know if and how you can access it. For example, use this resource if you see an article in footnote and you want to get the article. You can link to the journal list as follows.

- from the top right menu in WorldCat (pick Library Links → Journals/Serials)
- directly: <http://library.dts.edu/journal-lookup>

Retrieving your article is a multi-step operation. For example, suppose you want to read “The Semantic Fields of Seeing and Oral Communication in the Joseph Narrative” by Talia Sutscover in Journal of Northwest Semitic Languages, volume 33 no. 2 (2007), pages 33-50. Then you would proceed as follows.

1. Connect to the journal list. Be sure the “Journals” button is selected, not the “Articles” button.
2. Search by journal title (Journal of Northwest Semitic Languages in this case).

3. You will retrieve one or more options on the left. In the example below there are two options because there are two different ISSNs. The first says “in library” meaning it will provide information about print volumes of the journal in the library. The second says “full text” meaning it will provide information about online content. On the right we see print coverage goes from 1971 to present.

The screenshot shows a library search interface. At the top, there are 'Search' and 'Browse' buttons. Below them is an 'Edit search' button. The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column contains two search results for 'Journal of northwest semitic languages'. The first result is a 'Journal, magazine' with ISSN: 0085-2414 and 'In library (1)'. The second result is an 'eJournal/eMagazine' with ISSN: 0259-0131 and 'Full text (1)'. Below these results is a 'Language:' section with links for various languages: Čeština, Deutsch, English, Español, Français, Italiano, Māori, Nederlands, Português, Svenska, 日本語, and 한국어. The right column shows the details for the second result, 'Journal of Northwest semitic languages', which is an 'eJournal/eMagazine' with ISSN: 0259-0131. It includes an 'INFO' icon, a 'VIEW FULL TEXT' button, and an 'IN LIBRARY' icon with a '1' in a circle. The details section includes a 'Close Item Detail' button, a 'Print copies at your library' button, and 'Available from' information: 'Journal: Journal of northwest semitic languages', 'Collection: Turpin Print Journals', and 'Coverage: 1971-present'.

- Click the title of the second record on the left to see the options under it. In the image below we see online coverage runs from 2000 to present.
