Note to the Researcher: The original pages which had to be retained are very brittle. Please handle with care. See the attached Container List for more details about this collection.

Processing Information: The title of this collection is taken from the cover of the album. The original album had a wooden cover and acidic pages. Digital images of the pages were made before the album was disassembled. Photographs which were not glued to the pages were transferred to acid free pages with protective sleeves in an album box. Many of the original album pages had a brief description of an alumnus' ministry on one page followed by only one or two small photographs on the next page. To conserve space, the descriptions and photographs were sometimes placed on the same page of the new sheets. The new pages have the page numbers of the original album, so several pages have two numbers. Five leaves, pages 19 and 25-32, had photographs glued to them. These five leaves were left as is and placed in protective sleeves. The original pages were 11 ¾" W x 9" H. The new pages are 11" W x 10" H.

Separated Material: The wooden cover was placed in a polyethylene bag and stored separately. The original pages were also retained and stored with the cover.

Alternate Forms Available: Digital images stored on the archivist's computer.
